People power: Suu Kyi claims landslide victory

RANGOON—Aung San Suu Kyi on Monday claimed a landslide victory for her opposition party in a historic by-election in Burma (Myanmar), saying the result is a new era for her long-repressed country.

Suu Kyi spoke to thousands of cheering supporters who gathered outside the headquarters of her National League for Democracy (NLD) a day after the opposition party declared she had won a parliamentary seat in the closely watched vote.

Ratings drop to 'good' from 'very good' in latest survey

SHARP increases in fuel prices that inevitably push up the cost of living may have pulled down public satisfaction with the performance of President Aquino from "very good" to "good," a lawmaker and a labor leader said yesterday.

Senator Sonny Poy, Ben Enson said the past quarter saw a series of fuel price increases that was beyond the control of the President. But the lawmaker added the people did not want to accept any explanation justifying the spike.

"Of course, people won't accept the fact that prices of oil are being dictated by international market forces. So this can be the main reason for the drop," Enson said.

Except among the upper and middle classes, public satisfaction with Mr. Aquino's performance dipped in the D and E socioeconomic groups and across geographic areas in the last quarter, according to results of a nationwide survey by Social Weather Stations (SWS).

New public satisfaction (and not anger) diminished with the President's performance among the poor.

Asean hits Nokor rocket launch

PHNOH PENH—Southeast Asian nations voiced "real concern" on Monday about North Korea's planned rocket launch, which the United States said is also described as a ballistic missile test.

"There is a real concern on the development in the Korean peninsula," Asean chair South Korea said after foreign ministers of the 10-member Association of Southeast Asian Nations met in the Cambodian capital.

"Instability up there could lead to dismantling confidence in the region as a whole," Pines said.

Foreign Secretary Albert del Rosendo called the launch "unacceptable" and in violation of United Nations Security Council Resolution 1718.

Smartmatic eyes other contracts

By Jocelyn R. Uy

ITS GEOSIS may not like it but smartmatic, the technology provider, is now looking for other contracts to replace services needed for 2013 national elections, according to its executives.

Smartmatic Chairman and President, Dr. James H. Smith, said after the poll body rejected its proposal to include other services needed in its new contract with the COMELEC, which is to replace the purchase of the previous contract optical scan IP2000 machines used in the 2010 elections.

"The other services to be bid are in-house ballot printing, supply of ballot paper, warehouse rental, hiring of technical personnel and handling of the confidential system, among others," he said.

"They also wanted that we would show that they knew it had this," Smith said. "We told them we can't give it to them without a bid, but because they might be others that can offer these services at lower prices."

It was highly probable that smartmatic would win the bidding to handle the configuration of the machines, Smith said, "for all the rest, especially those not related to the machines, like the ballot boxes, ballot papers, printing, deployment, they will have almost time pricing," he said.

Option to purchase

There services will be subject to a public bidding by the COMELEC's Special Bids and Awards Committee.

During 2012, the COMELEC has been 2013 elections.

Smartmatic had given the COMELEC up on March 31 to renew the option. Last week, the COMELEC signed the deed of sale with Smartmatic for the purchase of about 20,000 IP2000 machines, the automated election system (AES) software and the accreditation and supervising system for PLSB officials.

1-year warranty

The machines, which have a one-year warranty, will be delivered to ten locations with key players from the second call watchdog group. The second call watchdog group purchased the COMELEC machines, saying that buying "glitch-ridden" machines would cost double on the eve of the 2013 elections.

The second call watchdog group (MAGN) said it would file a petition before the Supreme Court on Wednesday to stop the COMELEC from using the IP2000 machines which supposedly had known proven deficiencies with errors and bugs when they were used in the 2010 elections.

AGS which said it would seek a temporary restraining order against the COMELEC and Smartmatic.

The petitioners would include Solicitor General Ramon J. Dela Cruz, Philippine Computer Science Foundation, Inc., Public Intellectuals of the Center for People's Participation in Governance, Sector Vice President Teodoro Guingona and Manila Auxiliary Bishop, Cardinal Ricardo Vidal.

Another group, the Legal Network for the Third Election Count, also plans to file a similar case against COMELEC and Smartmatic.

Cruise ship passengers laud crew

SANDANAGA, Malacca—Passengers of a five-day cruise tour on the ship lauded the crew on Monday for maintaining order and keeping them safe during the 24-hour tour in the 24-hour tour.

The cruise ship was anchored off the southern Philippines with 1,000 people aboard. The ship engaged one of its 20-odd boats to keep the ship safe during the 24-hour tour. Consumers brace for bigger electricity bills

MANILA CITY—Households consuming 200 kilowatts of electricity a month may expect an 18 to 20 percent increase in bills after the National Power Corp. (Nepco) was allowed to raise its generation rates nationwide, according to a power company official.

Arthur Milla, executive vice president for Energy and Power Co. (EAPC), said Nepco's higher generation rates would translate to an 18 percent increase in rates per 200 kWh, the average consumption of residential consumers in the city. EAPC has about 200,000 clients.

Last month, the Energy Regulatory Commission (ERC) approved the increase of 4.42 cents per kilowatt hour in power charges being sought by Nepco in Mindanao. It also allowed increase in generation charges by 60.00 cents per kWh in Luzon and by 60.00 cents in the Visayas.

Currently, Nepco's effective rate is P10.60 per kWh in Luzon, P4.04 in the Visayas, and P2.02 in Mindanao.

Milla said EAPC would implement the increase once it is approved by official orders from the ERC.

In a press statement, the ERC said the rate increases covered the application for Hydrocarbons and Power Sector Assets and Liabilities Management Corp. (PHALAM) under the generation rate-adjustment mechanism (GRAM), which allows utilities to increase costs associated with fuel and purchased power, and increased currency exchange and adjustment dollar mechanism.

The GRAM and rate rate of adjustment will be effective in the March 26 to April 25 billing period and valid until the departmental order is approved by the ERC. That has been fully reviewed.

In its website, EAPC claims to be the third-largest privately owned electric utility in the country. It holds the franchise for distributing electric power to Zambo City as well as Pandan City and the towns of Compost, Dapitan, and San Tomas in Davao del Norte.

Last month, the company added 1,563 billion kWh to 204,319 meters with a peak demand of 288 megawatts. —Anne Malapitan, Manila

Gov't cautioned on Mindanao power rate hike

By Ryan D. Bousso
Special Manila

MANILA (AP) — The country's largest business organization has urged the government against implementing the rate of increase in Mindanao in the process of addressing the lingering concerns related to insufficient capacity to generate electricity.

Hydroelectric power plants 'should be Mindanao's core energy source' to be complemented with diesel-based reserve power facilities.

In a statement, the Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry (PCCI) stressed that merely focusing on prepping up available supply of electricity "would cause the adverse results to consumers in terms of power cost, as it now being experienced in Luzon and Batangas."

Further, PCCI argues that the only way to the current power crisis would be strictly done with increased rates.

"A coherent solution must be complemented with ensuring lower power cost," the PCCI said, it added that the current situation would require "a blend of strategies properly crafted" by Mindanao.

"As strategic and carefully planned plans further, lower power cost was the key driver in making hydroelectric source available in Mindanao and would be the strong players in achieving power in the area, said Miguel Ureña, chamber president.

Roadmap out of crisis

Ureña emphasized that his group was supporting "a clear and predictable roadmap that would give investors and end-users long-term exposure to the Mindanao crisis" that would effectively address the concerns of producing the demand amount of power supply and having it at lower cost.

To attain this strategy, the PCCI and the government should ensure that the hydroelectric power plants "should be complemented with third-level reserve power facilities."

Jose Alejandro, PCCI vice president for energy, in a separate statement said that in support of this strategy, "diesel plants and reserve should remain to be government funds as disposable source or standby power."

In the case of the Agas hydroelectricity generation project, Alejandro explained that developing, maintaining and operating activities could only be dependable capacity.

He estimated that the Agas complex had the potential to "produce up to 800 MW (megawatt) of power for about nine months, instead of only six months of the year, and a potential year-round dependable capacity of up to 200 MW."

Such supply capacity can be complemented with 400 MW of "stand-by diesel capacity," he added.

Enhanced hydro potential

Alejandro further stated that the proposed hydro-diesel mix would bring in revenues of about P1 per kilowatt hour "to spread our fixed costs."

Agas is capable of producing hydroelectricity at P3 per kWh, Alejandro said, pointing out that the hydro-diesel mix strategy would only bring generation cost up to P4 per kWh.

"Mindanao consumers will only pay for the diesel fuel when they run during the season," he explained.

The PCCI said a well-orchestrated "road map" plays an important role in the generation mix that the high power cost will not arise where Mindanao consumers.

"Given the development of other hydroelectric generation plants, and as the situation, must be done only after fully developing all the potential hydroelectric power sites on the island," it said.

To alleviate the current situation, the PCCI said the immediate measures to be taken must be "leading to a mid-term and forward-looking development."

Among its recommendations are to build out the Agas and Pulang hydro plants for a "Big Agas" system, which would generate 1,100 MW in less than 13 months," it said.

The PCCI also supported the development of a 200-MW coal-fired plant by Canal Holdings in Zamboanga and another 300-MW coal-fired capacity to be installed as a consortium of 21 electric cooperatives in Mindanao.

"This should produce reasonably lower-priced power since it is powered by the co-ops," it said.

While power facilities, the PCCI added that load-shedding must be done "with speed and clear concern for areas where it affects and major economic activities are threatened to avoid major delays."

Bishop backs 'zero waste' observance of Holy Week

By Joseph R. Uy

RECYCLING, avoiding meat consumption and reducing waste are also being areas of penance during the Holy Week, a Catholic bishop said yesterday.

The intensity of Holy Week offers a unique opportunity for all to touch base with Mother Earth and have the much that we live in a very much abused and degraded environment," said

Cebu Bishop Gregorio

Biguan, the head of the public affairs committee of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP).

Bisop urged the faithful to use the Holy Week "to make amends" with Mother Earth. This can be done "with a conscious effort to live simply, do away with excess consumption and go for zero waste," he said.

Bisop urged an online call for the environmental group

"Blessing Maids Holy Days" aimed to reduce trash through responsible consumption and active recycling, recycling and composting during Holy Week.

According to the tradition, the campaign suggests a more domesticated lifestyle for the use of reusable bags and containers instead of plastic containers, induction use of water and electricity and a way to burning, especially during religious activities.

"Our responsibility to Mother Earth is our responsibility to ourselves and to the next generation that will inherit the planet," Bisop said.

His appeal is also a reflection of a November 2008 pastoral letter from the Church that exhorted Catholics to "uphold the sanctity of life" and "show more respectful consumption."

Now promoting frugal lifestyles and the ecology ministry of the Church of Cebu, said, "preventing trash from being created, dumped or burned during Holy Week is a timely act of penance, cleansing and conversion that will translate in cleaner and more live communities, especially in the metropolis."

But there are to preserve the environment must be done even beyond Holy Week, Bisop said.

"Thinking back the release and toxicity of trash generated by every person, household, institution and community is an available opportunity to do good a voluntary option, but an essential responsibility that has to be done at all levels of society," he said.

He said he was the director of the Manila Development Authority showed that Metro Manila, with a population of 13 million, generates more than 3,500 tons of trash every day.

publicans and high government officials, but he privately declined to say who exactly he was expecting.

He, however, invited from Manila and other parts of the country to visit the shrine. The President is expected to have visited the House of Representatives last week. The country's chief magistrate is also expected to visit the shrine.

"This should also come and spend the Holy Week in the shrine and reflect on the lives of the Filipino people," he said. "I am sure that the spiritual experience will be a blessing for the people and that God loves them."

Palmer said the shrine is one of the most important in the country, with 2 million pilgrims every year.

The shrine is experiencing a "renaissance" process as designed by the local people, he said. The local people, he said, will see the shrine as a place of pilgrimage.

Rizal police nab 5 out to 'salvage' 2 compatriots

By Nita Celis

THE TWO Koreans were down on their knees, bloodied and naked from the waist up—and were being beaten with a baseball bat by their own compatriots.

Police said they were able to photograph this scene as they rushed to the site where a group of Korean nationals were allegedly out to execute two of their own gangster-style along Don Mariano Avenue, Rizal province, in the town of Marikina.

The seven police officers, Sgt. Ivan Bae, possibly said he was ordered just before the "salvaging" or execution of Lee Sang Hwang, 32, and Kim Sang Hwang, 32, both natives of Seoul, who were earlier abducted in Pinar City reportedly over a

According to the suspect, Filipino driver the Korean had a significant role in getting them, Bae said. "They were reportedly involved in financing 'casino games,'" he added.

The five suspects were charged with increased murder and kidnapping during August proceedings in Pinar City, yesterday.

According to Bae, policemen meeting a checkpoint in Marikina San Jose control word from a resident that they were a construction on the road side since 50 meters away from the checkpoint or around 150 meters.

Upon reaching the spot, responding policemen saw two men on their knees, bloodied and naked from the waist up with five others taking turns to beat them with a baseball bat, Bae said.

"They cry, they were even able to utter a phrase," he said, noting that the place would serve as a road piece of evidence in court against the suspects.

Bae noted that Kim and Lee were brought to the same stretch of road in Marikina San Jose where the bullet-riddled bodies of a man and a woman were found last month.

He also mentioned at night, the kidnapping must had happened because it happened around for salvage victims, he said.

PUP seniors, parents protest 'unfair' exams

By Jayme T. Gudi

SENIOR secondary students along with their parents staged a rally at the Independent University of the Philippines (IUPUI) campus in San Juan, Manila, on Monday to protest a possible test requirement which they considered unfair.

Half of the 800 remaining students will not be able to graduate this year for failing the evaluation exams which were made part of their curriculum as a requirement for their graduation.

Rebecca Aguilera, IUPUI student representative, said failure to meet this requirement would be unfair to the students.

BIBLE SEMINAR ON THE DAY CHRIST DIED FOR ME

THE DEATH AND RESURRECTION OF JESUS IS A CORE BELIEF IN CHRISTIANITY. HOWEVER, UNCERTAINTIES ABOUT THE EXACT TIMING OF THIS EVENT EXIST UNTIL THIS VERY DAY. WHEN ASKED FOR A HEAVENLY SIGN BY THE PHARISEES, JESUS DECLARED SAYING: "...JUST AS JONAH WAS THREE DAYS AND THREE NIGHTS IN THE BELLY OF THE GREAT FISH, SO SHALL ALSO THE SON OF MAN BE THREE DAYS AND THREE NIGHTS IN THE HEART OF THE EARTH."

SURELY, THE TRADITIONAL FRIDAY CRUCIFIXION AND SUNDAY RESURRECTION BELIEF WILL NOT FULFILL THIS PROPHECY. CAN WE DEFINITELY ASCERTAIN THAT JESUS INDEED WAS "THREE DAYS AND THREE NIGHTS" - A TOTAL OF 72 HOURS - IN THE GRAVE AS HE SAID HE WAS? BE WITH US AS WE TACKLE THIS CHALLENGING STUDY ABOUT THE EXACT TIMING OF THE DEATH AND RESURRECTION OF OUR LORD AND SAVIOR.

US to help equip, pay rebels in Syria

ISTANBUL—The United States said dozens of other countries moved closer on Sunday to direct intervention in the fighting in Syria, with Arab nations pledging $100 million to pay opposition fighters and the Obama administration agreeing to send communications equipment to help rebels organize and evade Syria's military, according to participants gathered here.

The move reflected a growing consensus, at least among the oil-rich Arab world, that the rebels' "freedom of Syria" has become a global issue, one that is leading to a new era of global politics.

With Russia and China blocking the measure that could open the way for military action, the coalition lined up against the government of President Bashar al-Assad sought to bolster Syria's beleaguered opposition through means that seemed to weaken the definition of humanitarian assistance and military aid.

They include providing weapons and training to the rebels, as well as sending them to fight in Syria.

Iran's Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps, which has long been a vocal supporter of the Assad regime, said it would not join the coalition.

Still, the offer to provide weapons and communications equipment to rebel fighters in the Free Syrian Army—with the hope that the move might encourage government forces to defect, officials said—was being seen by some as a sign of the Assad regime's weakening position.

Mali junta backs down; rebels seize Timbuktu

BOULDER—Mali's junta yielded to the threat of sanctions on Sunday, pledging to start handing power back to civilians before a midnight deadline, while in the north, separatist rebels seized the ancient trading post of Timbuktu.

Analysts say the junta's move was a sign of weakness, but it was also a sign of a new era of global politics.

SMC acquires 49% of PAL Holdings

$500-M investment to give it management control

By David C. Chandler

SAN MIGUEL Corp. has firmed up a deal to acquire 49 percent of tycoon Lucio Tan's PM Holdings Inc. for about $500 million, thereby obtaining a significant foothold in national flag carrier Philippine Airlines.

Deutsche sources told ENR that the group of Uckerath has agreed in principle for the firm to buy into Uckerath power company before the firm's exclusive contract period is up.

An emergency board meeting was convened by P&G. Holdings yesterday afternoon to discuss the deal with HFC, which had been in the works for the last three months.

The owners said that under the arrangement, SAC would buy 40 percent of the Holdings, a publicly listed company. The structure of the deal is described by sources as complex but in the end, SAC's entry in 2016 means company is now giving it an effective 40 percent control of the airline. In expected, SAC will have management control of the airline.

Gov't rejects bids for 6-month, 1-year bills

By Michelle V. Burrows

THE GOVERNMENT rejected all bids for the 302- and 264-day treasury bills during the regular auction yesterday, with officials claiming that the rates sought by the non-bidder were excessive.

The government accepted bids for the 51-day lifts. For the auction committee, the value seemed to be the market for the three-month securities, although better rates were available.

Therapy rates for the three months fell to 2.40% percent, rising 13.1 basis points from the yield reported in the previous auction for similar debt.

The Bureau of the Treasury scrapped all reserves for the three month bill amounting to $22 billion.

That the government accepted bids for the 182-day bills, but not for those maturity dates could have climbed 50 basis points to 2.125 percent. For the 264-day bills, the ex-

First Quarter Results: Divining the market

If 98.84 clear pattern for the first quarter results were to be followed, the market would spend most of the quarter in a steady state.

With a strong volume of 4,271,960 on Jan. 2, the market rose 75.75 points (equivalent to 0.62 percent) higher when it closed for the first time at 5,987.75.

This is a solid departure from the market's active but too-soon performance in the same period last year, when it closed at negative 1,000.75 points or 2.58 percent lower. It also means the market is generally in the market at 2012 equivalent to 150.05 points.

Continued in the development over the weekend, this may hardly continue on for the time. Aside from the expected volatility of demand and lower activity during the first week, the market may actually start to grow again.

Last Friday, US President Barack Obama announced the US would undertake more "booster" efforts to assist in the US's economic recovery. The US Congress and signed by law in December 2011, the US would be looking for a new program to assist in the US's economic recovery.

The market program, according to him, is intended only for certain purposes but it is not intended to be a long-term program. It is intended to be a short-term program to assist in the US's economic recovery. It is intended to be a short-term program to assist in the US's economic recovery.

Megaworld sets aside P25B for capex in 2012

By Denis C. Dumlao

REAL estate tycoon Andrew Tan's Megaworld Corp. has earmarked P25 billion for capital spending this year, aiming to keep a leading position in the highly competitive residential property segment.

In the last semester of 2011, the property developer has unveiled plans to launch 11 new residential projects, Megaworld disclosed in the Philippine Star Exchange on Monday.

The company is also taking advantage of a sustained low-interest environment to boost the supply of residential units in the local market.

Based on a research by property consultant J2

Michael Ellis Philippines, Megaworld last launched the most condominium residential units from 2008 to 2011, amounting to more than 40,000 in additional units brought to the market or a market share of 16 percent.

The overall volume launched by Megaworld in the same period represented a total saleable area of about 1.9 million square meters equivalent to 17 percent of total living space made available in the market.

Another property consultant, Colliers International, previously cited Megaworld as the top residential developer in the country based on the number of residential units completed and to be completed until 2015, and the most aggressive sales strategy.

In 2011 alone, Megaworld unveiled eight new projects. One Starwood Avenue in the Shattuck Fairwood City community in Quezon City, 121 Sereno Boulevard and Belmont Luxury Hotel in the 25th Avenue City in Pasig City, One Square Residences in the new White Opus Residences in the Global City Tower 1 of The Triangle in the 58th McKinley Hill in Fort Bonifacio, the second series of Metropolitan Heights, the third phase of the 57th Metropolitan Avenue City in the Science Center in the newly completed Hamilton in the Makati CBD, and Eight Seasons Boulevard. Megaworld first launch residential projects in Marikina, Cebu.

Megaworld also aims to a wider range of customers through the projects of bonded houses, Empire East Land Holdings Inc. and Habitat Properties Inc.

North Harbor operator to put up new terminal

By Paolo S. Montolio

A PNP modern passenger terminal building at the Manila North Harbor, the country's busiest domestic harbor, by this time next year, the government said.

The P250-million passenger terminal that would triple the facility's capacity is part of a larger P4.6-billion revenue expansion program for the privately-run Manila North Harbor.

"The consortium will expand the capacity to 7,000 passengers daily. Today, the capacity is only 1,000," Philippine Ports Authority General Manager Juan Ben-Ara told reporters Monday. Speaking at the address of President Aquino's signature of the Manila port charter Monday, Ben-Ara said the P4.6-billion is to be used by the private consortium to build the new phase of the North Harbor's terminal complex.

The Manila North Harbor is run by Manila North Harbor Port Inc. (MNHPI), a joint venture between the Ben-Ara family's Harbor Center Port Terminal Inc. (30 percent) and the Miguel Corp.-affiliated Corp. (70 percent).

MNHPI was originally a partnership between the Ben-Ara family and the group of Manuel A. Pangalanan. The group left the company after being in control of the company from the 1980s.

The new passenger terminal will be completed by early next year. Construction started last month. The new terminal will be the new phase of the North Harbor's terminal complex.

The new and to help MNHPI, the PNP said, is talking with the Manila City local government to help in the relocation of over 700 jobs and offices residing in the old terminal building.

In the meantime, Globeport 900 Inc., the leased building firm owned by the Ben-Ara family, and X had acquired Philippine Shipping Inc. from Globeport 900 Inc.

BDO planning to raise up to $1B via sale of shares

THE COUNTRY'S largest bank, Banco de Oro Unibank, is planning to beef up its net 1.4 billion capital by as much as $1 billion through the sale of additional shares in its existing investors.

"Our capital raising is intended to support the growth and expansion of the bank across the various segments on the economy, and to strengthen the bank's capital position in an anticipation of new bond issuances," BDO chair Teresita Ly said in a disclosure to the Philippine Stock Exchange yesterday.

"This move is in the process of pricing, rights issue and convertible will be attached over them as funded," she said.

Domestic and commercial banks are required by the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas to adopt by Jan. 1, 2014, the capital adequacy standards under Basel III, which introduces a complete package of reforms designed to improve the ability of banks to absorb losses, ensure the coverage of financial risks and have stronger financial systems overall.

The $1 billion new capital raising planned by BDO is the latest of the minimum of $200 million that banking industry says is needed to put it at the same level with peers. Bank of the Philippine Islands and Metropolitan Bank and Trust Co. is among the 10 largest.

With BDO's planned capital-raising, it will keep its capital adequacy ratio (CAR) at the minimum of 12.5 percent from 10 percent and double to get 1 CAR ratio to 10 percent from 5 percent effective January 2014 even if it were to expand its net assets over the next year.

Currently, BDO's consolidated CAR is 1.1 ratio and at 15.6 percent and 10.2 percent, respectively. "The new capital will provide a sufficient buffer on top of the new minimum

The 'real' runners turn up for this Cebu run

By Anna A. Jarbes

TO BEGINNERS DROPPED in the Cebu International Convention Center to race and cheer support for the fourth Globe Run the Globe (GRL).

The first Globe GRL outside Metro Manila, the Cebu (Cebu) edition exceeded expectations in race runners from the city and beyond signed up and ended in the finish line.

More than 5,000 runners might seem like a lot, especially compared to Manila's huge turnout that got up to five digits, but when Cebu and other runners, they really mean the people who live and breathe the running.

"There are real runners. No one is running here to finish long, no one is running here to get lost. More than 1,000 runners will run for the 21K category. That is big for a city like Manila, even more for people who are runners for the 21K category," said Freddie Maras, vice director of Trekking Corp., event organizer for this year's Globe GRL.

Leading the pack of Cebuans running in the marathon were Dr. Francisco "Tony" Laramendi IV and his wife, Sharon, who finished together. They were joined by May Day Laramendi, who finished 15th runner from the 21K category. Other runners included Dr. Francisco Laramendi, who finished 15th runner from the 21K category. The race took them from the CQC to Cebu International Convention Center, then to the Cebu City skyline, to Plaza Independencia, along the Cebu International Convention Center, then to the Cebu City skyline, to Plaza Independencia, along the Cebu International Convention Center.

"The run was very good, with great weather. Route was very safe and flat. Although we completed a week earlier for an other half marathon in Cebu, Bousa still managed a Philippine 24 of 1:55 and placed 10th in the overall finish. I had a modest time of 1:45 and placed 22nd overall in the category," said Laramendi. "This is their first Globe GRL race."

Freddie Maras finished 10th in the 10K overall finish, while his wife Sharon finished 10th overall in the category. They finished at the same time (1:45).

Freddie said it is "a privilege to live in Cebu," noting down several runners to move to Manila. A lot of the great outdoors, the said the first half marathon run in the middle of Cebu where the air is clean and fresh.

"Spent in a good place to support many causes," he said. The Globe GRL, he said, is

It's the high-intensity workouts that burn the most fat

By Randy Green

THE SUMMER season is about here, and the beach is the next three months. This is also the time of the year when most of you are getting your beach body ready.

In all honesty, you should've started a month or two ago. But you've got time. Before we get into the good stuff, there are some things you need to know about getting into beach-body shape. We'll start with the most common mistake people make when trying to get in shape: the wrong C-card workout.

Ever notice the athletes who run fast and sprint for their distance? They typically have long, lean, and muscular bodies. These guys are the marathon athletes, who usually run relatively long distances, and are typically less muscular, thin and less defined. Is this you?

People who run longer distances have more endurance, this season is nothing new. So, long-distance runners typically have a higher percentage of body fat when measured.

The author, a New York City-based coach, shares insights on how to achieve that summer body—and it's not all about sustained cardio.

It's difficult for the body to hold on to less muscle, because it's more in demand. Your body will only keep the muscle it needs to get the job done. So, if you're a long-distance runner, your body will keep the muscle it needs to get the job done.

What celebs plan to do this Holy Week

IT'S TURNOUT of Holy Week. Where does your faith lie? Let our talks a break from stress hit students for much self-introspection.

As we go on our Holy Week break, may we find time to ponder the deeper significance of Lent. Beyond the religious rituals, what is the Lord trying to tell us at this point in our lives?

I will pay for those who prevent me in this crazy life, sometimes it's hard to tell who your true friends are. I will also watch my back.

Let's have what folks have to say as they share their Holy Week reflections. Let just hours of hearts be opened to that little voice inside you.

LOUIE TELLESCIANCA I will reflect not so much on what I see—specific for me, but on what life really is. . . . That I don't claim to know everything about this faith that I boldly speak about, but one thing I know is that life grows, which is undesired, uninvited and unwanted, everywhere and anytime. We are in pain each day, not by the disliking each but with living alone. And even if I should sometimes fail, the grass will always and forever continue me to get up and get across once again.

LANE MERCADINO: As with most TV shows, Body Work is a time for me to renew bonds with my family, with whom I go through the results of our trials. I also feel a closer bond from the togetherness of our individual lives.

The Israel vacation helps me to reflect better on what God wants me to do in my family life, as well as in public service, and in my business. It is the time to assess if I have succeeded in seeking a balance in my relationships—with God, my family, my peers and my community.

I also seize the opportunity to seek God's forgiveness for my failings, as well as patience and strength for all the days to come.

JOHN ESTRADA: I will look deep in, side me and reflect on all the blessings God has given me, so I may have an insight on how to give back to our country and the community. This is a time to be thankful and to realize that we can meet more with a thank you.

DOLLY WOOD

Daily Ann
Carnival

DEBLYNDKADDE: I will read the folio with much emphasis on The Book of Job which I will read twice for you.

DO CERMENO I will honestly examine my beliefs and thoughts that I've been affirming all these years, to know why and how I've been getting what I've been getting—which served my higher purpose and which did not. Surely I can live with more freedom.

CHRISTIAN SAUTTER: I will reflect on how the Lord is near and how much He loves me.

JOY ALONGER: It's a good time to thank the Lord for all our blessings. I will have everything new to those who have lost.

AMY FURZE: I will reflect on having a deeper relationship with God, and really understand what He is trying to teach me.

GAST's members must report such an incident to:

Celebrate your teen's graduation dinner with us.

JOHN FOWLER: "It has to be understood what the social conditions are."

A total of 20 winners can get a chance to win a celebratory dinner for the family worth Php 10,000 at Heat, Eolia Shangri-La or Circle, Makati Shangri-La and 30 more winners* at any of these other participating restaurants.
